

Any company that provides any channel should be required to offer that channel a la carte at some reasonable price. I am sick and tired of being told that if I want one more channel, I must subscribe to a package of channels that I do not want. That approach increases costs UNFAIRLY.